BraidTeX Composition Gallery

This gallery is generated from the public BraidTeX model API. The diagrams use model-level stacking, cabling substitution, persistent strand identities, and separate topological and annotation primitives.

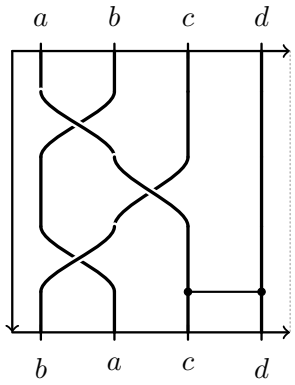

Smooth shifts and an exchange

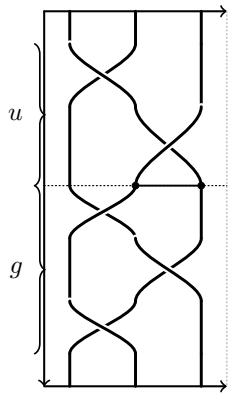

A connector with only its endpoint nodes

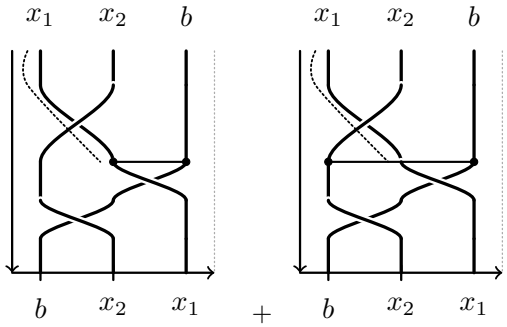

A connector passing across intermediate strands

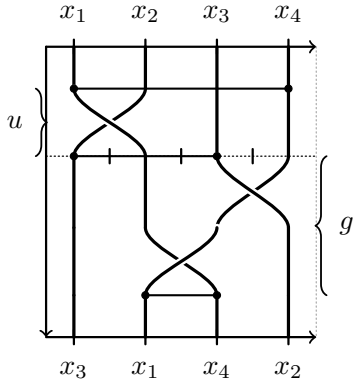

Vertical stacking as model composition

Operadic strand replacement: connector alternatives

Four strands, connectors, separator, and regions

Repeated crossings and dotted auxiliary paths

